The nature of the undertaking is to construct an All Terrain Vehicle Trail from the existing trail at Big Pond to my cottage at Isle Aux Mort Pond.

The purpose for this trail would be to have access to my cottage by an All Terrain Vehicle.

Geographical Location

This trail is located in the country on the south west coast of Newfoundland. The trail would begin at Big Pond from the existing trail owned by Kelvin Billard, to my cottage at Isle Aux Mort Pond as indicated on the map attached.

Physical Features

This trail will run on an existing old tractor trail from years ago. This trail is approximately 18 kilometers long. This trail will remain on the tractor trail from the beginning at Big Pond to my cottage at Isle Aux Mort Pond.

There is a low percentage of bogs on this trail, it is mostly a hard ground area which has already been used by the old tractor trail. There are no wooded areas to be tampered with. It will cross 4 brooks that are flat to the surrounding land which will not require any bridges.

Construction

The construction part of this trail is very small. There will only have to be construction where the environmental access finds it necessary. If so it will be done by hand by 2 to 3 people in a couple of days in the summer months of June or July of this year.

Operation

The operation of this trail will be in the fall months from September to November. It will give me access by ATV for hunting and trapping activities.

Occupation

This trail will be built by myself and a couple of friends. If found necessary the trail could be made visible in a couple of days. The work will be done by hand and by ATV.
