LESSON: What is Bullying? Module A, Lesson 2

GRADE LEVEL: Grade 2

PAGE(S): 189-193

LEARNING OUTCOMES (This lesson can be used to help students achieve the following general and/or specific provincial curriculum outcomes):

Language Arts

- students will speak and listen to explore, extend, clarify, and reflect on their thoughts, ideas, feelings, and experiences
- express thoughts and feelings and describe experiences
- ask and respond to questions to clarify information or gather further information
- express opinions and give simple explanations for some of their opinions (I like...because)
- listen to others' ideas and opinions
- students will be able to communicate information and ideas effectively and clearly, and to respond personally and critically
- sustain one-to-one conversation and contribute to small and large group interactions
- students will be able to interact with sensitivity and respect, considering the situation, audience and purpose
- demonstrate a growing awareness of social conventions such as turn-taking and politeness in conversation and co-operative play
- recognize some examples of unfair and hurtful vocabulary, and begin to make vocabulary choices that affirm rather than hurt people
- students will be expected to respond personally to a range of texts
- make personal connections to text and share their responses in a variety of ways
- express and begin to support opinions about texts and the work of authors and illustrators
- students will be expected to use writing and other forms of representation to explore, clarify, and reflect on their thoughts, feelings, experiences, and learnings; and to use their imaginations
- use writing and other forms of representing for a variety of functions
 - to ask questions
 - to generate and organize ideas
 - to express feelings, opinions, and imaginative ideas
 - to inform/communicate information
 - to record experiences
 - to explore learning
- begin to experiment with language choices in imaginative writing and other ways of representing
- students will be expected to create texts collaboratively and independently, using a variety of forms for a range of audiences and purposes
- use a variety of familiar text forms and other media (messages, letters, lists, recounts, stories, poems, records of observations, role-plays, Readers Theatre)

- demonstrate some awareness of audience and purpose
 - choose particular forms for specific audiences and purposes
 - realize that work to be shared with an audience needs editing
- students will be expected to use a range of strategies to develop effective writing and media products to enhance their clarity, precision, and effectiveness
- develop strategies for prewriting, drafting, revising, editing/proofreading, and presenting/publishing
 - use prewriting strategies, such as drawing, talking, and reflecting
 - use appropriate drafting strategies for getting ideas on paper (taking risks by using temporary spelling or by exploring various forms, writing freely with a focus on getting ideas on paper, composing simple text using a word processor)
 - use simple revision strategies to create a meaningful message (e.g., adding on, crossing out, starting to insert information)
 - use simple editing strategies (e.g., making some simple corrections in spelling and punctuation, capitals, periods; circling and correcting a few misspelled words; using beginning dictionaries or class-made word lists as resources for spelling)
- use a variety of techniques for publishing/presenting (sharing writing/representing with the class or another class, publishing on-line, submitting work to school/district anthology or magazine)
- use some conventions of written language
 - use conventional spacing between words
 - use an increasing number of letters to represent sounds (most vowel and consonant sounds represented)
 - use an increasing number of words spelled conventionally
 - use simple sentence structures
 - attempt to use punctuation (periods, question marks, exclamation marks)
 - use capital letters for proper names, pronoun "I", and sentence beginnings
 - demonstrate engagement with the creation of pieces of writing and other representations
 - engage in writing and representing activities every day
 - sustain engagement in writing and other forms of representation (e..g., drawing, role-playing, plasticine art, collage)
 - choose to write independently during free choice time
 - share writing and other representations with others and seek response
 - contribute during shared writing activities
 - contribute observations/information to classroom records of field trips, science experiments, etc.
- select, organize, and combine, with assistance, relevant information to construct and communicate meaning
 - interact with resources (print, non-print, or human) to answer their own questions or learning needs
 - with assistance, develop strategies for making and organizing notes
 - create a new product
 - share their information in a variety of simple ways

Health

Mental Health

- identify situations in which fear and anxiety may be experienced
- identify people in the school who can assist with personal problems

Relationships

- understand the need for being responsible
- understand when to use a firm "no"

Religious Education

Key Principles

• develop a caring attitude towards family members and others who are a part of their daily contacts

Appreciate and Value Diversity in People

• know and appreciate that what they think, say and do matters to other people, and see the connections between actions and consequences

Personal Awareness and Development

• acknowledge and come to terms with their own fears, anxieties, and frustrations and express them in satisfying and acceptable ways

Physical Education

- demonstrate respect for individual differences
- demonstrate basic safe practices and fair play when engaging in physical activity
- demonstrate the ability to cooperate and work with others
- demonstrate concern for the safety of self and others
- demonstrate respect for the personal space of others