LESSON: Imagine a School Without Bullying. Module B, Lesson 1

GRADE LEVEL: Grade 3 PAGE(S): 215-218

LEARNING OUTCOMES (This lesson can be used to help students achieve the following general and/or specific provincial curriculum outcomes):

Language Arts

- students will speak and listen to explore, extend, clarify, and reflect on their personal experiences
- describe, share and discuss thoughts, feelings and experiences and consider others' ideas to extend knowledge
- ask and respond to questions to probe and clarify information and to explore possibilities or solutions to problems (e.g., interview, brainstorm)
- students will be able to communicate information and ideas effectively and clearly, and to respond personally and critically
- participate in conversation, small-group and whole-group discussion understanding when to speak and when to listen
- students will be able to interact with sensitivity and respect, considering the situation, audience and purpose
- use basic courtesies and conventions of conversation in group work and cooperative play (e.g., turn-taking, listening attentively, maintaining eye contact, listening without ridicule, using constructive criticism)
- students will be expected to respond critically to a range of texts, applying their understanding of language, form, and genre
- share and discuss their personal response to events, characters, ideas and feelings through a variety of means (e.g., murals, photographs, timelines, poetry, role-play)
- students will be expected to use writing and other forms of representation to explore, clarify, and reflect on their thoughts, feelings, experiences, and learnings; and to use their imaginations
- use writing and other forms of representation to
 - formulate questions to guide, report and reflect inquiry
 - generate and organize language and ideas
 - discover and express personal attitudes and opinions
 - express feelings and imaginative ideas
 - record experiences and reflect through shared journals, diaries, learning logs, art, song, video
 - explore how and what they learn (e.g., diagrams, story maps, charts, graphics, book advertisements)
- experiment in imaginative writing and other ways of representing (e.g., dramatization, role play/skits, video script, song)
- students will be expected to create texts collaboratively and independently, using a variety of forms for a range of audiences and purposes

- create written media texts using a variety of forms
 - messages, riddles, letters, lists, advertisements, announcements
 - rules/procedures
 - stories, poems, recounts/retellings, mathematics journals
 - response logs
 - book jackets
 - records of observations
 - directions, games, role plays
 - Reader Theatre
 - Science Fairs/experiments
 - charts, graphs, diagrams
- write for different purposes (e.g., to inform, persuade, entertain, record, reflect, invite, to problem solve)
- seek feedback from teachers and peers about their writing
- write fiction which includes a structure and characteristic features (beginning, middle, end; plot, characters, setting)
- use literature (fiction and non-fiction) as models for good writing such as
 - character development
 - descriptive language
 - setting
 - titles
 - events
 - repetition techniques
 - actions
 - book language
 - problems/solutions
 - headings, sections
 - charts, graphs
- students will be expected to use a range of strategies to develop effective writing and media products to enhance their clarity, precision, and effectiveness
- use a range of prewriting, drafting, revising, editing, and presentation strategies
 - use prewriting strategies to generate and organize ideas for writing (e.g., webbing, brainstorming, story mapping, reading/viewing, collaboration, researching, interviewing, reflecting, jot noting)
 - use drafting strategies (e.g., organize and sequence information from prewriting activities, compose a meaningful first draft, use temporary spelling when necessary)
 - use revising strategies to create meaningful texts (e.g., read/reread, add ideas, cross out repetition or rearrange texts, use feedback from teachers and peers to enhance text)
 - use editing strategies to clarify meaning and prepare for publication by applying knowledge of punctuation and capitalization, language structure, spelling, penmanship, conventions of language
 - use a variety of publishing/presenting techniques and modes

- use some conventions of written language
 - (a) punctuation and capitalization
 - use capitals for proper names, titles, places, days, months, holidays, beginning of sentences
 - use periods at the end of sentences and for abbreviations
 - use commas in a series, and in dates
 - use apostrophes for possessives and contractions
 - use question marks, exclamation marks and quotation marks
 - (b) language structure
 - make subjects and verbs agree
 - begin to use simple paragraphing
 - use a variety of simple and more complex sentence structures
 - use pronouns appropriately
 - (c) spelling
 - use meaningful and syntax patterns as well as sound cues
 - spell many words conventionally
 - identify misspelled words, trying them another way, and using another way, and using another resource to check them out
 - use knowledge of letter patterns, rhyming words, roots, prefixes and suffixes to assist them in correcting misspellings
 - use personal and primary dictionaries to assist in independent writing
 - (d) penmanship
 - use a variety of writing aids (pictionaries, dictionaries, thesaurus, writing webs, computer, personal word lists)
 - use manuscript and/or cursive writing in a legible manner
 - demonstrate engagement with the creation of pieces of writing and other representations
 - engage in writing/representing activities for sustained periods of time daily
 - work with others to revise and edit
 - choose to write independently
 - contribute during shared writing activities
 - contribute observations/information to classroom records of field trips, science experiments, etc.
 - publish/share with a sense of authorship (e.g., author chair)

Health

Mental Health

• understand the importance of respect for self and others

Relationships

• understand the reasons why to tell, who to tell, and how to tell

Social Studies

Peoples

- identify and take actions to promote positive interactions among people
- recognize the importance of positive interactions among people
- examine how stereotyping leads to negative interactions among people
- generate ideas and take age-appropriate actions to promote positive interactions among people

Citizenship

- take age-appropriate action to practice responsible citizenship
- recognize that making decisions is an integral part of life
- explore methods of decision making
- give examples of how decisions often result in change and con cause conflict
- recognize how individuals and groups can influence elected representatives and their decisions
- plan and carry out an action that demonstrates responsible citizenship

Visual Arts

Creating, Making and Presenting: Visual Arts

- students will be expected to explore, develop, and express ideas, using the skills, language, technique, and processes of the arts
- create images based on sensory experiences and imagination that express a mood, feeling, or emotional response and convey personal meaning
- visually communicate stories, ideas, and experiences, using a variety of materials
- explore basic art skills, techniques, and vocabulary
- students will be expected to create and/or present, collaboratively and independently, expressive products in the arts for a range of audiences and purposes
- develop skills in interaction, co-operation, and collaboration through working with others in making visual images

Understanding and Connecting Contexts of Time, Place, and Community: Visual Arts

- students will be expected to demonstrate critical awareness of and value for the role of the arts in creating and reflecting culture
- draw upon experiences from their personal, social and physical environments as a basis for visual expression
- students will be expected to respect the contributions to the arts of individuals and cultural groups in local and global contexts, and value the arts as a record of human experiences and expression
- demonstrate respect for the work of self and others
- recognize and investigate how art is a human activity that can emerge from personal experiences
- students will be expected to examine the relationship among the arts, societies, and environments
- demonstrate sensitivity to and respect for others and the works they create

Perceiving and Responding: Visual Arts

- students will be expected to apply critical thinking and problem-solving strategies to reflect on and respond to their own and others' expressive works
- apply simple criteria to identify main ideas in original art work of others

Physical Education

- Demonstrate basic safe practices and fair play when engaging in physical activity
- Demonstrate respect for the personal space of others
- Demonstrate the ability to cooperate and work with others
- Demonstrate concern for the safety of self and others
- Demonstrate an understanding of the effectiveness of group cooperation