Canada's Skating Queen

18-year-old Kaetlyn Osmond is now in Sochi, Russia, for the Winter Olympics.

Kaetlyn Osmond received her Canadian championship trophy from Governor-General David and Sharon Johnston at the 2014 Canadian Championships. Stephan Potopnyk/Skate Canada Photo

Canada's two time senior women's champion will skate in the new team competition starting Thursday and continuing to the weekend.

Her singles competition is scheduled Feb. 19 and 20.

Kaetlyn started her skating career in Marystown at the local Arena.

She received her Canadian trophy from Governor-General David and Sharon Johnston at the 2014 Canadian Championships.