Eligibility

1. In order to qualify for assistive technology, the student must have an identified and documented exceptionality according to the EECD definitions.

2. The Department of Education and Early Childhood Development (EECD) will not provide assistive technology items which individually cost $200 or less (before taxes and shipping).

3. iPads are provided only for students who require them as communication devices.

4. Tablets are provided only for students in Grades 4 to 9 who have a Specific Learning Disorder in Written Expression or Reading.

5. Student-specific devices deployed by EECD may be eligible for replacement (Evergreening) if the following conditions are met:
   - the device is more than 4 years old
   - the existing software/App does not meet the student's needs
   - the device is unable to update the required software/App
   - the school has the credentials required to transfer the software/App to a new device

6. Read and Write for Google may be provided for students in Grade 4 or higher who have a Specific Learning Disorder in Reading or Written Expression. This will be in the form of a Chrome extension attached to their district email account.
