1.3 Values

Advisory Council members and staff work from a feminist perspective to advance the status of women in Newfoundland and Labrador. In 2006, we developed a set of values for the Advisory Council.

See Appendix II for a description of these values.

1.4 Physical Location

The leased, accessible office space is located at 15 Hallett Crescent, Suite 103, St. John's, NL.

1.5 Budget

In March 2009, the Advisory Council budget allocation was $441,000.

In September 2009, the Advisory Council was allocated an additional $52,800. This figure included funds to cover costs associated with organizational restructuring.

1.6 Lines of Business

Lines of business are defined as those discrete and coherent sets of programs, services and/or products that represent what the Advisory Council provides to its external clients.

In keeping with the Advisory Council's legislated mandate, the following lines of business have been identified:

- (1) Advising Government on issues affecting the status of women
- (2) Outreach and consultation
- (3) Public education and awareness

(1) Advising Government on Issues Affecting the Status of Women

The Advisory Council provides advice as requested by the Minister and other Government departments and agencies. On an ongoing basis, the Advisory Council is asked for recommendations on changes to, or the creation of, legislation, policies and practices affecting the status of women in Newfoundland and Labrador.

The work of the Advisory Council is centred on improving Government policies, programs, practices, services, legislation and budget allocations as a means to advance the equality of women in Newfoundland and Labrador. The Advisory Council also brings emerging issues and concerns to Government. It works with individual women, women's groups, and the Women's Policy Office to identify the issues and develop an analysis of problems and solutions.

While the Advisory Council is not the direct agent of change, council members provide advice and direction to Government and advocate for systemic changes. Advice is generally provided through position papers, briefs and written recommendations. The Advisory Council identifies processes to move existing policy forward or to deal with gaps. It also engages in issue analysis, research and consultation. In addition, the Advisory Council participates on a variety of committees and working groups which provide information and recommendations related to advancing the status of women.

(2) Outreach and Consultation

The Advisory Council conducts outreach to equality-seeking organizations and to Government by responding to requests for workshops, presentations and speeches on women's experiences, feminist analysis and gender inclusive analysis, insofar as resources permit. In addition, the Advisory Council engages in provincial outreach by travelling and meeting with groups of women in the province to discuss issues related to the status of women.

When working on specific issues, the Advisory Council reaches out to stakeholders, clients and others for information and collaboration. It actively engages in networking and consultation with women's groups throughout the Province, as resources allow and as indicated by the strategic priorities.

Much of the Advisory Council's outreach work is done using communication tools such as email, phone, listserv and conference calls. The Advisory Council is increasingly engaged in outreach through travel and face to face meetings with women in the Province. The Advisory Council hosts and participates in roundtable meetings; brings groups together to facilitate information exchanges; and participates in local, regional and national meetings and conferences. The Advisory Council also engages in outreach with women's equality-seeking groups through participation on outside boards and advisory committees.

(3) Public Education and Awareness

The Advisory Council's third line of business is focused on providing public education and awareness on issues related to women's social, legal, economic, political and cultural equality.

History is herstory too.
~Author Unknown

The Advisory Council uses the media, both print and electronic, to provide information on the status of women, both proactively and reactively. This enables the Advisory Council to provide public feminist reaction and analysis on issues both negatively and positively affecting women's equality and inclusion.

The Advisory Council creates and/or circulates information, briefs, reports and other documents related to the status of women. The Advisory Council also publishes articles in magazines and periodicals.

Additional public education and awareness initiatives include the hosting and co-hosting of educational roundtables and workshops.

2 Shared Commitments

Our work could never be accomplished in isolation from our many partners who share a commitment to advancing the status of women.

During 2009-2010, a positive and dynamic working relationship with the Minister Responsible for the Status of Women and the Women's Policy Office continued to strengthen our ability to fulfill our mandate and reach our goals. Throughout the year, we shared information, analysis and strategies to advance a variety of women's equality issues.

We also established and maintained positive working relationships with the staff and Ministers of the following Departments and other Government entities:

These feminist groups and community organizations were important partners in advancing the work of the Advisory Council. Partnerships with the Silent Witness Committee, the Violence Prevention Initiative and the St. John's Status of Women Council have contributed to the Advisory Council being able to increase public awareness of violence against women, through public and media presentations. Work with Women in Resource Development Corporation, Women Interested in Successful Employment, the Office to Advance Women Apprentices and the Council of Marine Professionals Association has centred on women's earned income and employment and women in the skilled trades. Together with these groups the Advisory Council was able to raise awareness and provide input to Government barriers to women in the skilled trades. Collaboration with the WPO, Municipal Affairs, Equal Voice and the provincial Status of Women Councils has raised awareness of the need for more women in elected positions in all levels of Government.

3 Internal Governance

3.1 Meetings and Committees

We held four, two-day in-person meetings during the year:

- June 15-16, 2009
- September 14-15, 2009
- November 30- December 1, 2009
- March 5-6, 2010

A joint meeting with the eight Status of Women Councils/Women's Centres was held during our September, 2009 meeting. Four internal committees continued to guide the management of our organization: Finance, Governance, Personnel and Building and Communications.

3.2 Staffing

The Advisory Council has four full time positions and a part-time bookkeeper, all of whom work from the Provincial Advisory Council office at 15 Hallett Crescent.

Salaries continue to account for the largest expenditure within the core operating budget.

In 2008-2009, the Advisory Council created professional salary scales which are comparable to similar positions within Government. Comparable to the public service, the Advisory Council staff received a 4% increase at the beginning of the 2009-2010 fiscal year.

All staff at the Advisory Council is female.

3.3 Business Planning

The Advisory Council is moving into the last year of the 2008-2011 PACSW Business Plan and will undertake the development of the next three year business plan in the coming year.

While the 2008-2011 Business Plan encapsulates the Advisory Council's work on a number of issues that align with the Provincial Government Strategic Directions, it is by no means an exhaustive account of the issues addressed by the Advisory Council during the 2009-2010 fiscal year.

4 Governance Issues

In consideration of Government's strategic directions, and the mandate and resources of the Provincial Advisory Council on the Status of Women, the following priority areas have been identified by the Council members.

Issue 1: Advancing Justice for Women

The design and delivery of justice services provide a critical foundation for women's legal, economic and social equality. Issues of domestic violence, mental health and addictions, family law and correctional services all impact the social and economic well being of women. In keeping with its mandate to advise the Minister Responsible for the Status of Women, Government and the public on issues affecting the status of women, during 2009-2011, the Advisory Council identified key justice issues related to advancing the status of women. The Advisory Council has been actively engaged as a member of the Justice Minister's Committee on Violence against Women as well provided advice and recommendations on a number of initiatives within the Department of Justice around impacts on women. These initiatives include the Family Violence Court, Adult Alternative Justice, Family Justice Services and Emergency Protection Orders. An issue of concern for the Advisory Council is the growth of the sex trade and sex industries that has resulted from the economic prosperity being experienced in our Province. The Advisory Council, together with WPO and key stakeholders have begun an initiative to undertake an examination of the status of the sex trade industry in the Province. The Advisory Council, through a brief on the "Child, Youth and Family Services Legislative Act Review" provided advice and recommendations on issues that impact the status of women and their children in the Province. Additionally, through a brief to Government on "Umbrella Legislation for Health Professions Seeking Regulation", the Advisory Council provided input with respect to advancing the practice of midwifery in the Province. Through this work, the Advisory Council has been able to contribute to the advancement of the Provincial Government Strategic Directions related to violence prevention and women's social and economic equality, as stipulated in Appendix A of the Business Plan 2008-2011 of the Provincial Advisory Council on the Status of Women.

Goal 1:

By 2011, the Provincial Advisory Council on the Status of Women will have conducted analysis and provided advice and/or recommendations to Government to further women's equality within key areas of the justice system.

Objective 2 (2009-10 Objectives):

By March 31, 2010, the Provincial Advisory Council on the Status of Women will have gathered information and developed advice and/or recommendations in key areas related to justice services for women, including but not limited to family violence courts and correctional services.

Measure: Provision of advice and/or recommendations.

Indicators:

The Advisory Council will gather information, monitor and continue to advise Government as new programs related to justice services for women, including but not limited to family violence courts and correctional services are implemented.

Progress Report: Justice Services for Women

The Advisory Council, by March 31, 2010, achieved the indicator of gathering information, monitoring and providing advice to Government as new programs related to justice services for women, including but not limited to family violence courts and correctional services, were implemented.

A number of alternate dispute resolution programs in both family and criminal law areas have been initiated by Department of Justice in recent years. These initiatives were designed to divert cases from the courts and include mediation, conciliation, community conferencing and other services. An important feature of these initiatives is the mandatory rehabilitation programs in place for offenders. These initiatives include the Family Violence Intervention Court, Emergency Protection Orders, Adult Alternative Justice and Family Justice Services. During the development stages of these programs, the Advisory Council was involved in providing input, as were equality seeking women's organizations around the Province. The Advisory Council continues to maintain that these initiatives not become court cost saving measures that get routinely relied upon, rather they are used only in circumstances that have been thoroughly examined to ensure they are not situations where violence and/or power imbalances are involved. We continue to encourage the use of a gender inclusive analysis in forecasting the impact of the programs. The Advisory Council worked with staff of Justice on the need for and content of gender based analysis training for those involved in delivery of the proposed Adult Alternative Justice program.

Over the past year the Advisory Council staff gathered information on and monitored the implementation of the Family Violence Intervention Court. Staff participated in and provided feedback on the Ontario Domestic Assault Risk Assessment (ODARA) training being used to evaluate offenders in cases of domestic assault.

Over the course of this reporting period, both Minister Thomas Marshall and Minister Felix Collins have held the Justice portfolio. Over the year, Advisory Council staff has met with the Ministers and executive officials of the Department of Justice on several occasions. We have provided advice and recommendations on:

- the operation of Family Justice Services (FJS)
- the external evaluation of Emergency Protection Orders
- the pilot Family Violence Intervention Court
- the Adult Alternative Justice Program during development
- the need for research into the sex trade in the Province

The Advisory Council meets regularly with the Minister Responsible for the Status of Women and her executive officials and provides regular advice and recommendations on these same issues.

We hold positions and actively participate on the following Justice Committees:

- Evaluation Sub-Committee, Family Violence Prevention Act – Emergency Protection Orders (EPO's);
- Justice Minister's Committee on Violence against Women.

The Advisory Council is confident the advice and recommendations provided on justice issues for women, contributed to increasing safety and equality of women in the Province as well as enhanced decision makers understanding of the gender dimensions of justice issues. Examples of effectiveness include:

- Changes to the Provincial Human Rights Act
- Terms of reference regarding research on sex trade
- Gender based analysis support to Adult Alternative Justice initiative
- Changes to the Child, Youth and Family Services Act

Objective 3 (2010-11 Objectives):

By March 31, 2011, the Provincial Advisory Council on the Status of Women will have provided further advice and/or recommendations for areas identified in Objective 2.

Measure:

Provide further advice and recommendations as pertaining to Justice Services for Women.

Indicators for 2010-2011:

The Advisory council will gather information, monitor and continue to advise Government as new programs related to justice services for women are implemented and provide advice and recommendations to Government on emerging justice issues for women.

Issue 2: Representation on Key Government Strategies

In keeping with its mandate to advise the Minister Responsible for the Status of Women and Government on issues affecting the status of women, Council members have identified contributions to ongoing strategic priorities and, in particular those involved with the Violence Prevention Initiative and the Poverty Reduction Strategy, as strategic issues. Both of these priority areas of focus align with the Provincial Government Strategic Directions 1, 4 and 5, as outlined in Appendix A of the Business Plan 2008-2011 of the Provincial Advisory Council on the Status of Women. These Strategic Directions include violence prevention, women's earned income and employment and women's economic and social equality.

The issues of violence and poverty constitute a significant portion of the Advisory Council's focus. Both the Violence Prevention Initiative and the Poverty Reduction Strategy are two very significant initiatives that the Government has prioritized in an effort to decrease levels of violence and levels of poverty in our Province. Continued commitment to advancing and resourcing the Violence Prevention Initiative and the Poverty Reduction Strategy are keys to advancing women's quality.

During the past reporting year, the Advisory Council provided advice and/or recommendations to the Minister Responsible for the Status of Women and departments involved with these ongoing Government strategies.

Goal 2:

By March 31, 2011, the Provincial Advisory Council on the Status of Women will have provided ongoing advice and/or recommendations on key Government strategies, including but not limited to the Violence Prevention Initiative and the Poverty Reduction Strategy.

Objective 2:

By 2010, the Provincial Advisory Council on the Status of Women will have gathered additional information and conducted analysis to further its advice and/or recommendations related to the prevention of violence against women and the Poverty Reduction Strategy.

Measure: Provision or advice and/or recommendations

Indicators:

- Gather information and provide advice and/ or recommendations to Government on reducing women's poverty including advice and/or recommendations related to the Poverty Reduction Strategy.
- Continue to advise and/or make recommendations to Government pertaining to prevention of violence against women, including gathering information and participating in evaluation and development of social marketing strategies of the Violence Prevention Initiative.

Progress Report: Prevention of Violence against Women

The Advisory Council, by March 31, 2010 achieved the indicator of providing advice and recommendations to Government on the prevention of violence against women.

Preventing violence against women and children is a continuing priority for the Advisory Council, one which requires constant attention and ongoing activities to raise public awareness. Over the past reporting year, the Council has publicly addressed issues of violence against women at both a provincial as well as national level through media interviews, opinion pieces, letters to the editor and speaking at public events. The spectrum of issues addressed spans the sentencing of offenders in Provincial courts and the increase in violence and crime levels that accompany economic development to the need to maintain the long gun registry and to refuse federal pardons to convicted sex offenders.

The Advisory Council is a member of the social marketing committee of the Violence Prevention Initiative and as such provided information and feedback on the development of the "Respect Women" campaign. Over the past year, staff and Council members attended the launch of the campaign and actively promote the campaign and accompanying materials with the Province and beyond. The Advisory Council, working with the Violence Prevention Initiative conducted a gender analysis training session for the coordinators of the Regional Coordinating Committees against Violence. We participated in the VPI Stakeholders conference, focused on violence against children, held in St. John's. Over the past year, the Advisory Council has assisted in gathering information and feedback with respect to the Violence Prevention Initiative social marketing strategy. Comments and feedback have been gathered through individual discussions and meetings with groups around the Province. The Advisory Council has been engaged in discussions regarding further social marketing strategies to address violence.

The Advisory Council, as member of the Silent Witness committee in St. John's, assisted in the development of materials and the planning and coordination of the launch of the Silent Witness silhouettes to recognize women who have died at the hands of an intimate partner in our Province.

We have provided advice and/or recommendations on:

- The need for continued support for the VPI and 10 Regional Coordinating Committees against Violence
- Support for the development of a further VPI social marketing campaign addressing violence
- Continuation of support for the pilot women's employment project with Transition House Association of Newfoundland and Labrador
- Support to enhance staffing and training capacity of the Transition House Association of Newfoundland and Labrador.

Progress Report: Reducing Women's Poverty

The Advisory Council, by March 31, 2010 achieved indicator of providing advice and/or recommendations to Government related to reducing women's poverty.

The Poverty Reduction Strategy (PRS) is a valuable initiative in the quest to advance women's social and economic equality. Poverty reduction constitutes a priority area of focus for the Advisory Council.

In the past year, the Advisory Council, the Status of Women Councils/Women's Centres and the Women's Policy Office have been actively engaged in consultations and discussions providing feedback on "Empowering People - Engaging Community - Enabling Success: First Progress Report on the Government of Newfoundland and Labrador's Poverty Reduction Strategy." The Advisory Council has had a number of meetings with Poverty Reduction Strategy staff to discuss the status of the strategy, the need for sex disaggregated data to allow for a clearer picture of how the strategy is contributing to poverty reduction for women.

We have provided advice and/or recommendations on:

- The need for presentation of sex disaggregated data to determine poverty reduction amongst women

Many of the Advisory Council's recommendations on poverty reduction were outlined in the brief submitted to the Minister of Finance in the 2010 Pre-budget Consultations. Recommendations included:

- The need for expansion of dental care program to include low income adults, inclusion of preventative care and the full cost of dentures to individuals on income support
- The need to amend access to prescription drug coverage in light of increase to minimum wage
- A series of recommendations pertaining to the lack of affordable housing in communities across the Province and the need for consideration of rent control legislation, supportive housing for seniors and provision of housing by industry
- Other recommendations addressed heating subsidies, affordable public transport for low income people and support for initiatives to improve nutrition levels in the Province.

Objective 3:

By 2011, the Provincial Advisory Council on the Status of Women will have furthered its advice and/or recommendations related to the prevention of violence against women and the Poverty Reduction Strategy.

Measure:

Advice and recommendations furthered.

Indicator for 2010-11:

- Gather information and provide advice and/or recommendations to Government on reducing women's poverty including, but not limited to advice and/or recommendations related to the Poverty Reduction Strategy
- Continue to advise and/or make recommendations to Government pertaining to prevention of violence against women, including gathering information and participation in the Violence Prevention Initiative social marketing strategies as well as other committees to address violence against women

Issue 3: Advancing Women's Equality in Priority Areas

In keeping with its mandate to bring before Government and the public issues affecting the status of women, the Advisory Council focussed on barriers to women's employment in non-traditional occupations and barriers to increasing women's participation in elected office at all levels of government and decision making positions. Work in these areas has supported key Provincial Government Strategic Directions 2 and 3, women in leadership and decision making and skilled trades as outlined in Appendix A of the Business Plan 2008-2011 of the Provincial Advisory Council on the Status of Women.

An important aspect of increasing women's social and economic equality is the ability of women to obtain well paid employment. With the growing opportunities in the resource sector, it is critical that women be afforded the opportunity of gaining employment in the skilled trades and technology. However in order for women to avail of these opportunities, they require the necessary supports to do so. These supports include child care, transportation, affordable housing. In addition, there is need to address the numerous other barriers that constrain women's ability to enter non-traditional occupations.

Women continue to be under-represented in elected and/or decision-making positions. Research on the barriers to women's participation as well the development of strategies to redress this imbalance must be developed and implemented.

The Advisory Council, together with the Women's Policy Office and other community organizations continues to work on advancing women's participation in non-traditional occupations as well as in elected and/or decision making positions.

Goal 3:

By 2011, the Provincial Advisory Council on the Status of Women will have provided advice and/or recommendations related to advancing women's equality, including but not limited to the provision of family supports for women working in non-traditional settings and addressing barriers to women's representation in elected positions and decision-making positions.

Objective 2:

By 2010, the Provincial Advisory Council on the Status of Women will have provided advice and/or recommendations related to key areas identified in Objective 1 and emerging priority issues as identified by the Council.

Measure:

Provision of advice and/or recommendations relating to family supports for women working in non-traditional settings and relating to the representation of women in elected office.

Indicators:

- Advice and /or recommendations provided to Government related to women in elected office and decision-making positions.
- Advice and/or recommendations provided to Government related to family supports for women working in non-traditional settings.

Progress Report: Information Gathering on Family Supports for Women Working in Non-traditional Settings

The Advisory Council, by March 31, 2010 achieved the indicator of gathering information on approaches for the provision of family supports for women working in non-traditional settings.

With the appointment in May 2009, of Kelly Power, Director of the Carpenter and Millwrights College to the Advisory Council, over the past reporting year, the Council was very active in examining the status of women in non-traditional occupations, the barriers that exist and the strategies to overcome the barriers. The Advisory Council is an active member of the Board of Directors of the Women in Resource Development Corporation (WRDC), working with them to examine how best to advance women in the skilled trades. As well, the Advisory Council is an active member of the Gender Equity Committee of the Council of Marine Professionals Association (COMPASS), the intent of which is to encourage and support women to enter the marine transportation industry.

Through discussions the Advisory Council had with women in different regions of the Province, a number of barriers as well as challenges were identified. These include issues related to lack of available childcare for women working in non-traditional occupations, difficulties associated with finding and affording housing in locations where the work is, the need to relocate from one's home base to accept positions in the skilled trades, transportation issues. While there is extensive support for women to receive training in skilled trades and technology, the ability to gain apprenticeships, obtain journey papers and secure employment in the sector were identified as significant obstacles for women. In collaboration with the WPO, other government departments and organizations engaged in advancing women in non-traditional occupations, the Advisory Council is participating in a working group to develop proposals around overcoming these challenges and obstacles.

The Advisory Council has provided advice and/or recommendations to industry around the need to follow through on existing women's employment plans, what barriers exist for women and how industry can overcome the barriers and provide support to women in the skilled trades and technology sector through diversity funds.

The opportunity to advance women's economic equality through obtaining employment in the marine transportation sector is a viable and financially lucrative option for women in the Province. At the present time there is a worldwide demand for employees in this sector. The Advisory Council has worked with COMPASS, over the past reporting year, on the development of materials designed to encourage and support women to enter the marine transportation industry. Such materials include an extensive manual, a video, posters, pamphlets and website that include substantial content on women in the sector. The Advisory Council has been supporting the work to encourage women to enter the marine transportation sector, by actively distributing the posters and pamphlets.

In keeping with the priority focus of identifying barriers and encouraging women to enter non-traditional occupations, the Advisory Council was actively engaged in the issue of recruitment and hiring of female firefighters in the City of St. John's. The low numbers and the barriers encountered by women wishing to work as firefighters in St. John's were brought to the attention of both the Advisory Council and the WPO. The Advisory Council researched the tools, manuals and approaches being used by other major cities across Canada as well as other communities across the Province to recruit and hire female firefighters and did a comparison with St. John's. Through the media, the Advisory Council drew attention to the inadequacy of the materials and the lack of strategy around the recruitment and hiring of female firefighters in St. John's. Together the Minister, the WPO and the Advisory Council successfully raised the issue with the City and obtained a commitment to changing policy with respect to recruitment and hiring.

Substantive work has been done to encourage and support women to undertake the necessary training to secure employment in non-traditional occupations however, significant barriers remain with respect to their ability to secure apprenticeships, qualify for journey status and ultimately obtain secure employment. The Advisory Council is committed to working to advance women in non-traditional occupations through collaboration with others in an effort to reduce and/or eliminate the barriers.

We have provided advice and/or recommendations to Government on:

- The need for a cross-sectoral working group that includes Government, the Advisory Council and community organizations to strategize around overcoming the barriers for women to ensure they are able to secure apprenticeships, journeyed status and sustainable employment
- Barriers identified by women, particularly those with children and the need for supports and/or alternatives that allow them to work in the skilled trades
- The need to work with the unions around ensuring women are able to secure employment in the skilled trades and the challenges that exist around achieving that
- Use of industry diversity funds to support and advance women in the skilled trades

Progress Report: Information Gathering on Strategies to Increase Women's Representation in Elected Office and Decision-making Positions

The Advisory Council, by March 31, 2010 achieved the indicator of advancing strategies to increase women's representation in elected office and decision making positions.

The Advisory Council was actively engaged in work to increase women's representation in elected office, particularly in the first half of the reporting year. Leading up to the Provincial municipal elections, the Council participated in Lunch and Learn sessions on women in leadership, convened by the Status of Women Councils, WPO and the Department of Municipal Affairs. We attended and/or spoke at sessions in Stephenville, Bay Roberts and St. John's. The Advisory Council submitted an opinion on women in leadership to local newspapers across the province, encouraging women to run for municipal office. In additions, we posted the "Woman's Manual on Organizing an Election Campaign", on the Advisory Council website. Through both print and electronic media, the Advisory Council addressed negative comments made regarding women's participation on Boards of Directors, as well as the election of female majorities on municipal councils.

Subsequent to the focus on municipal elections, the Advisory Council has been participating in meetings to launch a provincial chapter of Equal Voice, a non-partisan organization dedicated to the encouragement and promotion of women to elected positions.

Aside from elected positions at all levels of government, the Advisory Council has been working with the WPO on strategies to increase the representation of women in senior leadership in the Provincial Government as well as agencies, boards and corporations.

While we have seen changes over the past year with the election of women to municipal councils in the Province, the under-representation of women in elected office and leadership positions in general continues to be an area that requires dedicated attention. The Advisory Council is committed to continuing work to encourage and support more women to run for elected office, but also to working with government and the private sector to advance more women into leadership positions.

We have provided advice and/or recommendations to Government on:

- The need to increase representation of women in senior leadership and decision-making positions in Government, agencies, boards and commissions

Objective 3:

By 2011, the Provincial Advisory Council on the Status of Women will have furthered its recommendations in the key areas identified in Objective 1 and emerging priority issues as identified by the Council.

Measure:

Will have furthered recommendations pertaining to support for women working in non-traditional settings as well as strategies to increase women's participation in elected office and decision-making positions.

Indicator for 2010-11

- Advice and/or recommendations provided to Government related to women in elected office and decision-making positions.
- Advice and/or recommendations provided to Government related to family supports for women working in non-traditional settings

Issue 4: Public Awareness

In keeping with its mandate to bring issues affecting the status of women to Government and the public, the Advisory Council has identified the strategic issue of public awareness. The Advisory Council has been actively engaged in increasing awareness of the roots of women's inequality and the importance of effective public policies to advance the status of women. In the public awareness work of the Advisory Council, the Provincial Government Strategic Directions were highlighted. This work addressed violence against women, women in leadership, skilled trades women's earned income and women's economic and social equality, strategic directions 1, 2,3, 4 and 5 as outlined in Appendix A of the Business Plan 2008-2011 of the Provincial Advisory Council on the Status of Women.

Goal 4:

By 2011, the Provincial Advisory Council on the Status of Women will have developed focused public awareness strategies in response to strategic priority issues related to the advancement of the status of women.

Objective 2:

By 2010, the Provincial Advisory Council on the Status of Women will have evaluated its strategic approach to publicly respond to priority areas related to the advancement of the status of women.

Measure:

The Advisory Council's strategic approach to communications is evaluated.

Indicators:

- The Advisory Council will have improved communications through application and further refinement of the Communications Strategy.
- The Advisory Council will have responded to priority areas related to the advancement of women through focused public awareness strategies.
- An evaluation framework will have been developed and evaluation completed.

Progress Report: Communications Committee and Strategic Communications Plan

The Advisory Council, by March 31, 2010 achieved the indicator of improving communication through refinement of communications strategy; responding to priority areas related to the advancement of women through focused public awareness strategies and an evaluation framework which was developed and evaluated. .

Communications and outreach are critical to the Advisory Council's ability to fulfill its mandate. Reaching out to engage women across the Province is essential if the Advisory Council is to truly represent the concerns of all women in Newfoundland and Labrador. In the 2008-2011 Business Plan, Public Awareness was one of the four strategic issues identified. The establishment of a Communications Committee and the development and evaluation of a strategic Communications Plan were set out as key indicators to the achievement of goals related to Public Awareness. The Communications Committee comprised of staff and Advisory Council members have been actively engaged in refining and advancing the Strategic Communications Plan.

Over the past reporting year, the Communications Committee has refined and improved on the Communications Strategy. To this end, a promotional pamphlet and information poster were developed and produced in order to increase awareness of the mandate, composition and priorities of the Advisory Council. These materials have been distributed across the Province by Council members as well as through the extensive PACSW contact list.

The website and listserv continue to be important venues for women to access and share information on women's equality issues. During the 2009-2010 fiscal year, the Advisory Council developed a framework and undertook a formal evaluation of the listserv and a more informal evaluation of the website via key informants. The results of these evaluations provided the Advisory Council with solid recommendations and ideas that are forming the basis for changes to be made to both communication tools as well as the updating of the communications strategy.

We sent out a media releases and wrote letters to the editor on a number of topics and gave many media interviews throughout the year. These were covered in the local as well as provincial media outlets.

Progress Report: Focused Public awareness strategies

In the work to increase awareness and advance women's equality, the Advisory Council engaged in a number of activities to reach out and engaged new constituencies, responded publicly to emerging issues impacting women, collaborated with organizations and participated in boards of directors to further the work in identified priority areas. Extensive work has been done in this regard, however the following are some of the key initiatives the Advisory Council was engaged in:

El and Parental Leave Forum -- On October 20, 2009, together with Newfoundland and Labrador Federation of Labour President Lana Payne, Linda Ross spoke on the issue of El and Parental Leave and the impact on women at a public event organized by GEMMA – a Society for the Promotion of Infant Mental Health.

Newfoundland Aboriginal Women's Network – Linda Ross gave an address at the Annual General Meeting held, October 24-25, 2009 in Black Duck Siding. The focus of the address was the role of the Advisory Council and the critical importance of policies and programs to advance women's equality.

Newfoundland and Labrador Federation of Labour Women's Conference – On October 1, 2009, Linda Ross gave an address on the role and work of the Advisory Council.

Women in the Global Economy Roundtable – On June 12, 2009, the Advisory Council hosted a roundtable with representatives of government and non-government organizations as well as academia on the role of women in the global economy, the work being done to advance women's economic status in Newfoundland and Labrador and the growing representation of women in non-traditional occupations.

A priority for the Advisory Council is the necessity of reaching out and meeting with diverse groups of women from across the Province. Over the past reporting year, the Advisory Council began deliberate outreach to women in the Province. Collaborating with the Rural Secretariat, the Advisory Council spent five days on the Northern Peninsula meeting with groups of women to discuss issues affecting their lives, in November 2009. In addition, the Advisory Council met with women in Stephenville, Corner Brook, Placentia and Bay Roberts. Through status of women councils, and other equality seeking organizations, there are many opportunities for women to identify issues and raise concerns, however for those without access to organized groups there is a real need to ensure mechanisms to hear their voices in order that the Advisory Council represent the concerns of all women in the Province.

Objective 3:

By 2011, the Provincial Advisory Council on the Status of Women will have furthered its strategic approach to publicly responding to priority areas related to the advancement of the status of women.

Indicator Development for 2010-2011

- The Advisory Council will have implemented changes resulting from the evaluation of the Communications Plan
- The Advisory Council will have furthered its work to respond to priority areas related to the advancement of women through focused public awareness strategies
- The Advisory Council will have furthered outreach to women in regions of the Province

5.0 Opportunities and Challenges Ahead

The Advisory Council recognizes the many changes and positive steps being taken to advance women's equality in our Province. However, we continue to be concerned about the inequality women experience, particularly aboriginal women, women in rural communities, women with disabilities and multicultural women. In our Province there are many opportunities for the Advisory Council to work with Government and community to raise and address issues to advance women's equality. There are however, persistent daunting challenges that women continue to face.

The economic growth experienced by our Province has proven positive in many respects. The benefits of growth have meant significant investment in programs and initiatives to reduce poverty, create new opportunities and advance the status of women. We have seen numerous positive changes and initiatives by Government to ensure that women are able to avail of the economic and social benefits of our economic growth and development. However, economic growth and development brings with it a series of challenges, a number of which are impacting on women in our Province.

The opportunities for women to avail of employment in non-traditional occupations have advanced significantly and we are experiencing an increase in the number of women entering programs in the skilled trades. However, women still face significant barriers. For those entering the programs, the ability to obtain employment to complete apprenticeships and secure journeyed status continues to be a problem. In many cases, employment in the particular trade is limited at the present time and waiting for the job opportunities 'down the road' creates real economic hardship. For other women, the lack of available childcare and the need to leave one's community for employment present further barriers. The Advisory Council, together with Government and community recognize the need to collaborate in order to seek and provide advice on strategies to overcome identified barriers in order to further assist women in securing sustainable employment in these higher salaried positions. The widening gender wage gap in our Province will continue to grow as long as men continue to dominate the higher paying positions.

The lack of safe, affordable, accessible housing and the lack of access to regulated affordable child-care stand out as two of the most significant challenges raised by women in the Province.

The lack of child-care presents not only a barrier for women interested in securing employment outside the home, it is proving a deterrent to working women having children. Newfoundland and Labrador, as with provinces across the country is faced with decreasing birth rates. EI maternity and parental leave provisions remain insufficient to meet the needs of women and their families. The Advisory Council is committed to working with Government and community to address these challenges.

The economic prosperity being experienced in the Province has lead to tremendous growth in the housing market. With vacancy rates hovering around the 1% figure, the lack of safe, affordable, accessible housing is a major concern for many people. The Social Housing Plan has set out steps to move forward and alleviate some of the problem for those who qualify. The real estate and rental markets have become inaccessible for growing numbers of working individuals and families. The Advisory Council and others groups have raised this as an issue requiring attention and are working with Government and community on initiatives to redress the problem.

The municipal elections in September 2009 provided an opportunity to publicly encourage and support women to run for elected positions. With the possibility of a federal election and the Provincial election slated for September 2011, the Advisory Council has the opportunity to build on work being done and collaborate with others to advance women in elected positions. The interest in advancing women in leadership positions presents a key opportunity for the Advisory Council to work with Government on strategies to advance women to senior positions.

The Advisory Council is entering the final year of our 2008-2011 Business Plan, in which we made the commitment to advance work, by March 2011 on the four specific goals of:

- Conducted analysis and provided advice and/or recommendations to Government to further women's equality within key areas of the justice system.
- Provided advice and/or recommendations related to advancing women's equality including, but not limited to, the provision of family supports for women working in non-traditional settings and addressing barriers to women's representation in elected positions and decision-making positions.
- Provided ongoing advice and/or recommendations on key Government strategies including, but not limited to, the Violence Prevention Strategy and the Poverty Reduction Strategy.
- Developed focused public awareness strategies in response to priority issues related to advancing the status of women.

Since 2004, the number of women registering for apprenticeship programs in non-traditional trades in the Province has increased by 35%.

Department of Education

Over the coming year, we will continue to collaborate with diverse members of the women's community to analyze issues, provide advice and/or recommendations and advocate for policies and programs to advance women's equality. We will engage in research and consultation and undertake the development of our next three year Business Plan for the 2011-2014. We will strive to maintain and strengthen effective working relationships with Government departments and agencies and we will continue to bring key issues and feminist perspectives to the attention of the general public.
