

HERSTORY Empowers, Poetry

Kathy Rowe, Torbay

The Slow Turning Of Paper

Fought through cold winds and closed doors,

Every step met with silence or scorn.

Mothers, daughters, voices rising slow -

All but some were told they could now vote.

Left behind: women not white, not heard

Equal only when law kept its word.